

Why Kiwanis continues to grow.

The continued progress of Kiwanis is due in a large manner to the outstanding men who are now and have been at the helm of this organization.

Men of forethought and great vision have been able to assist the Kiwanis Clubs fathered by International to weather the various storms through which our country and Canada have gone and with this thought in mind, it might be well for us to know something about our "higher-ups" who are at the head of Kiwanis.

MEET THE NEW MEMBERS OF INTERNATIONAL BOARD

Here is a brief summary of the careers of the four new members of the Board who were elected at the Wartime Council Meeting in Chicago last June:

Jesse K. Bigelow, M.D., C.M., vice president of Kiwanis International from Canada, is one of the dominion's most prominent surgeons. A member of Kiwanis for 16 years, he has served as president of the club in his home city, Lethbridge, Alta., governor of the Western Canada District and a member of numerous International committees.

Dr. Benjamin W. Black, Oakland, Calif., is medical director of Alameda County. He is a past president of the American Hospital Association, a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and the American College of Hospital Administration, and former medical director of the Veterans Bureau. A member of the Oakland Kiwanis Club for 17 years, he has served as governor of the California-Nevada District and International Committee chairman.

Lee F. Campbell, Middlesboro, Ky., has long been prominent in Kentucky retail trade circles. A member of the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club for 18 years, he now is president of the Chamber of Commerce there. He has served as president of the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club, governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee District and chairman of both the District and International Committees on the Achievement Reports.

John E. Gorsuch, widely known Denver attorney, also has long been active in public and private affairs. He is president of the Legal Aid Society of Denver, a trustee of the University of Denver, and vice chairman of the Non-Ferrous Metal Commission of the Colorado War Labor Board. He has served as president of the Denver Kiwanis Club, governor of the Rocky Mountain District and chairman and member of three International committees.

A box lunch will be served and there will be some special feature attractions which Ray Murray, chairman for the day, has been able to cook up for us and we are told that it will be well worth while to attend.

Practically every member present last Tuesday signified their intention of being present and those who are unable to do so will find a special table in the main dining room at the San Diego Club where you can make up your attendance.

Members are urged to be on hand as near to twelve-ten as possible for the program will start promptly and it will be good.

Those desiring transportation should contact Ray Murray at Franklin 1949 or President Ed. Scott at Main 3131.

The following VICTORY MESSAGE from our International President Hamilton Holt was read and bears repeating, so we are here-with reprinting this message together with the Kiwanis Post War Objectives, all of which are of prime importance in our Kiwanis work of assisting in the post war world of activieies, both in civic and national as well as international adjustment.

For over six years members of Kiwanis have given unstintingly of their time, thought, and resources to bring to the world a peace that would preserve our democratic way of life. Today those efforts have been crowned with the laurel wreath of victory. This is the day that has been like a guiding star leading us through the dark days of war.

During these years of war our organization has been tested. It met all of the challenges resolutely. Through the efforts of Kiwanis clubs billions of dollars have been raised through the purchase of war bonds to provide our two governments with the sinews of war; hundreds of thousands of blood donors have been secured; scores of thousands of our members have engaged in volunteer efforts on the homefront; millions of service men and women have been provided with a contact with their home communities.

Nearly 15,000 Kiwanians are members of the armed forces. At least 184 have made the supreme sacrifice. To these men and to the millions with whom they served, goes our eternal gratitude.

With the realization of victory our great organization faces new responsibilities. The International Board of Trustees, in session last week, adopted our postwar objectives which will serve as the framework to convert Kiwanis At War to a Kiwanis In Peace. Our clubs and our members will not shrink from the problems of reconversion that lie ahead.

Kiwanis, with a membership of 149,000 in over 2,300 clubs, is stronger than at any time in its history. Plato said, "The measure of a man is determined by the road of his longing and the quality of his soul." The road of our longing has brought us to this day. The quality of our soul will be determined by the manner of our acceptance of our peacetime responsibilities.

HAMILTON HOLT,

President.

Don Jacks Orchestra gives unusual entertainment

Don Jacks and his orchestra certainly gave us a lively half hour or more last Tuesday with their unique method of distributing music through their various contraptions including an old battered horn.

No wonder they were so much enjoyed by the men in uniform when they performed at the various camps.

There must be and is a large amount of musical talent behind the feature such as this one was and that, together with the unusually fine personality of the master of ceremonies gave us a rather brilliant feature program for the day.

In the phrase of the day, they "let their hair down" and just gave us a good lot of fun, which was enjoyed in this "let down period."

VISITORS

We again enjoyed a large list of visitors and visiting Kiwanians and are always happy to have them.

Those present were: Mac Wilson, National City, who had as his guests Mary Jane Wilson, Margaret Baxter, and Keith Loring of Santa Monica; Charlie Anderson, National City; Myron Insko, Ocean Beach; Bill Wilkie, Brawley, J. C.
