

30TH. ANNIVERSARY

Next Tuesday, we and thousands of other Kiwanians throughout the United States and Canada will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of Kiwanis.

Born in 1915, just at the beginning of the first World War, it started in to serve as best it could at that time and made such rapid progress that in a very short time, it arrived at a point where it received most favorable recognition not only from service clubs but from business and professional men and it now ranks among its members the foremost men in our country and Canada as active members.

Kiwanis is an organization, unique in many ways, but an organization which is doing a vast amount of good principally in the line of aid to underprivileged children.

With practically every club in International having as its objective the aid or support of some youth movement it is doing a work towards the making of better citizens who in future years are to rule our country.

Its vocational guidance work stands out in equal terms with other worthwhile projects and in fulfillment of its objectives it is serving the country during these trying times as "soldiers at home."

Almost the entire membership is doing some sort of war work or aiding in some drive or assisting in the selling of war bonds or doing yeoman service at the U. S. O. Clubs and we might go on ad infinitum.

We can be proud to belong to Kiwanis and if we will look into the record of progress made, we will readily understand why Kiwanis stands at the top of the list of Service Clubs.

Congratulations, International Officers and workers, we take our hats off to your excellent work and feel it a privilege to say, "I am a Kiwanian."

Have you your own hat?

Rev. Jimmie Mahood wants to know who the horse thief was, (or whatever a hat taker might be called) who took his Knox hat and left in place thereof another lighter gray Knox hat.

Both hats are good ones and if any of you who were present last Tuesday left your hat by mistake, please, please bring it back as the other fellows hat does not always feel comfortable on ones head.

Jimmie will be present to pay the reward if any is required.

BOWLING

Following is the substance of a meeting of the Sports Committee held January 16.

San Diego Kiwanis Club issues a challenge to all Service Clubs for a bowling match of six games, with our best five bowlers matched against their best five men, this to be a scratch contest. The winners would be determined on the basis of total pins for the six games.

It was suggested that we issue sixty tickets for each match, to be sold at one dollar each—thirty going to Kiwanis Club and thirty to the opponents, the winners taking the proceeds, with the proviso that the sum be paid to their favorite charity. For example, ours to go to the Crippled Children's Home. It was decided all persons interested in bowling contact me at Franklin 1949 or at Kiwanis meetings.

Plans have been suggested to organize four or five teams and have some team bowling among ourselves with the idea of becoming organized in the event of a resumption of a service club league this coming summer. At a later date, it was suggested, that we might have another skating party, the last one having been so successful.

Those present at this meeting were John MacIntosh, Emric Berger, Dr. Ross Carter, Ed Clapp, Clayton Dibble, Wayne Fry and Ray Murray.

Our speaker last Tuesday, the Rev. Alex G. Nichols, can be classed in the "Dynamic" column for his talk carried the essence of a "strong punch" in it.

Being of foreign birth, he talked from a rather different standpoint than we have usually heard and it is certain that it carried much weight in his forceful utterances about "Who shall inherit tomorrow," the subject of his talk.

Being a former Lieutenant Governor of the Lions Club organization, he had the service club angle well in mind in his talk and all in all, it was a most excellent service club talk from every angle.

Thank you Rev. Nichols for your "wallop."

KIWANI-ANNES

The following article was received too late for publication in last week's Tidings and we hope it's publication here will do some good.

Kiwan-Annes are to meet at the home of Mrs. Oliver A. McMahon, 1035 Cypress Way, Monday noon, January 22, 1945. The program chairman, Mrs. Arthur Shoven, promises a very interesting program by Jacqueline Schermerhorn of the Educational Department of the San Diego Zoological Society. She will provide a delightful story which she discovered, and will also show colored slides that we will all enjoy.

Jacqueline Schermerhorn is an interesting writer as evidenced by her last article, "Curious Cat," in the Zoonooz, the monthly publication of the Zoological Society of San Diego.

The president, Mrs. Thomas Russell, wishes all members of the Board to meet at 11:30, before the luncheon at Mrs. McMahon's.

OCEAN BEACH

Friendship and fellowship really pay big dividends, emphasized Captain Burrirt S. Mills, past secretary of the Ocean Beach Kiwanis Club, in his farewell address before the club Tuesday evening. He was introduced by Glenn Jones, program chairman for the evening.

The speaker drew from his experiences in his travels in Europe and other places examples to prove the point that being a friend, even to strangers, gets results especially in adding materially to the pleasure of living. "It's a two-way proposition," he said. "It's a lot of fun being nice to people and I am surprised that more folks do not try it. Don't be afraid to speak to others. What this world needs is to forget differences in nationalities, race, and creed."

Previous to the talk President Jerry Sullivan, on behalf of the club, presented Captain Mills with a past secretary's pin and a pin signifying he had a record of four years of 100 percent club meeting attendance.

Captain Mills is leaving Ocean Beach this week to get ready to resume his previous business as an importer and exporter, with headquarters in Paris, France.

Visitors at the meeting were Jack Shoemaker, "Sandy" Engel and Warren Burdine, all of Ocean Beach.

Dr. Alfred Sands will be program chairman for next week's meeting, and is arranging for a speaker.
